Behind the scenes

It began in September,
On the very first day of school,
With the initial photograph,
Which became our starting tool.

Since that time the pictures have grown,
Into a collection of pages,
Which reflect the activities of this year,
In a number of stages.

From Commencement Services during the first week,
To bowling on Spirit Day,
Or singing hymns at the Carol Service,
And acting in the school play.

Winnie who helped in the planning,
And stayed to see the job through,
Thanks for all your time and effort,
We couldn't have done it without you.

Miss Roberts and Mrs. Metselaar,
Who assisted in the chore,
Always had time to help,
And an open classroom door.

To everyone else who contributed,
To make the yearbook its best,
You have captured memories,
Which can be enjoyed by all the rest.

For in years to come,
Vox Collegii will be found,
In the homes of Trafalgar girls,
All the world round.

Charlyn Long — Editor

I take my pen in hand and find myself at a loss for words. I toyed with the idea of the "It was a dark and stormy night" beginning but that was soon scratched. Next, I started quoting people and spouting corny, sentimental stuff that makes everybody perfectly nauseous. No, that definitely would not do! So, here I sit, staring at Far Side comics, hoping that some hyperactivity will rub off on me to motivate me into writing a semi-decent farewell.

... Nothing's happening ...

Maybe I'll take a shot at that corny stuff after all.

First, I'd like to thank our vice-president, Neera Nundy. Without her help, I would probably have had twenty more bizarre spells that I have already. To the grade 10 class: what can I say? You walk in hot pursuit comes to mind.

Hmmm ...

At any rate, I'd like to close with a quote from Oscar Wilde.

"Youth is the one thing worth having."

Grade Seven

We started off as newcomers in grade seven, but as the months rolled by, we matured. We become involved with Trafalgar life by supporting our houses and attending house games. As a result, most of us received our house ties. Our class is like a family. In the beginning, we were strangers, but as the school year progressed, we became closer.

GROUPS

Clubs

Every ten days the afternoon classes are shortened to allow time for clubs. During the forty minute duration, teachers supervise the girls in various activities. There is something for every girl to enjoy. You can learn the newest dance steps in the social dance club, polish up your strategy in the chess club, practise the backstroke in swimming, get in shape in the fitness club, learn to cook or knit in the craft clubs, or take photographs for the yearbook in photography.

This year has been a very successful one for the Debating Society of Trafalgar Castle School. We have participated in and hosted debating tournaments, and we have had a number of successes and 'honourable mentions'. The Pine Ridge Regional Tournament was hosted by Trafalgar this year — and thanks to the participation of staff and students, of the society, it was an enormous success.

Though we did not participate in this tournament, we attended the St. Clement's Impromptu Tournament, the three Fulford Cup Tournaments, and the O'Neill and Anderson debates, among others.

We have always had new members joining the Society with the opening of each school year, but this year, we had an influx of enthusiastic new members who participated in tournaments and, in general, helped to make this a successful year for the Debating Society. We hope that this trend continues.

In short, this year has been a tremendous success!

President, Sherin Alidina.

Literary society

Back row: Mr. Kamcke, Heather Morgan. Front row: Mrs. Talent, Tiffany Bradley, Shaney Crawford.

It was an honour to have Charlyn Long, editor of Castle Signatures last year, and Yearbook editor this year, ask me to write about my experiences with the Literary society. It was a great thrill for me to get the chance to have my articles and stories published. Being a part of the 'Castle Signatures' magazine has made me feel as though I've left my mark. I've learned a great deal from helping to organize different literature projects, and working with great writers. I wish to enrich my writing skills by working with the Yearbook next year, and maybe, one day, I'll be able to create and organize as well as my peers, using the skills I will have learned.

With all of the fabulous articles that were entered by the many talented people of the school, this year's Literary magazine will be something worth treasuring. The work that has gone into each item from both staff and students is outstanding. This is truly a talented school!

I have followed in Charlyn's footsteps so far, and I hope that our Literary Society will continue to thrive. I'd like to congratulate her and her staff on this year's Yearbook.

Carter House

Captain: Carmina Chiappe
Sub-Captain: Catherine Inglis

I would like to thank all of Carter House for making my year as house captain very enjoyable. Even though we didn't win very often, I think that we had the best spirit, also the best line on May Day!

I would also like to thank my Sub Captain Catherine F. Inglis for all her help. I never would have been able to make it through this year without her.

Carmina

Thanks again,
Carmina Chiappe

Hare House

Captain: Carrie Davidson
Sub-Captain: Anju Mehta

It's been an awesome year, Hare House! Through all of the good and bad times, your support has been wonderful. I'd especially like to thank all the regulars at house games (you know who you are); I know that these are the people who have gotten the most out of their year at T.C.S.

I think that the house system has been good for developing friendships as well as a co-operative spirit throughout the school!

Thank you and good luck next year Anju! Thanks Miss Barton for all your support with the play. Thanks Hare House!

Maxwell House

Captain: Nikki Custozza
Sub-Captain: Sonja MacDonald

To everyone who participated in the House events, I would like to congratulate you all for keeping the Maxwell House spirit alive, whether we won or lost.

From this position, I've not only learnt responsibilities and leadership but learnt to take time to be patient and understanding with everyone. Also, if you are determined to get far, and if you set your goals straight, you can accomplish anything.

A special thank you goes to Sonja. You are the best sub-captain ever. You were always there when I needed your support from beginning to end. I hope that you will have the same support next year, when you are in leadership.

A final farewell to Maxwell House. Thank you for making my last year an exciting one, and always remember to keep the Maxwell House spirit alive. "Me 'N' MAX". Thanks guys. Love Nikki Custozza.

CAMP WEEK- END SEPT '89

Trafalgar's annual camping weekend, which takes place at the end of September, is a great way to start the school year. This year was no exception!

Despite the rain and the cold, many brave juniors, intermediate and senior students journeyed to Canada's north. We managed to have loads of fun ... yes, some of us even swam ... outdoors! Jokes, games, scary stories and singalongs rounded out this memorable trip.

The seniors gather on the dock to pose for a photo before departing for home.

Be careful not to rock the boat, the water looks cold!

Maija, Kerry, Courtney, and Tracey entertain campers on the intermediate trip

Suzanne and Shelly don't look convinced when Kelly shouts "Don't worry, the water snake's gone!"

HAPPY CAMPERS finished bedtime snack and ready for some deviltry. Nights are decidedly not for sleeping!

Spirit Day

September 28, 1989 marked Trafalgar's third annual Spirit Day. The morning began with a cheering contest initiated by the House Captains in an attempt to foster spirit. This action helped to get everyone in a competitive mood for the various games and races on the early day agenda. While I waited for my event, the musical chairs to be announced I watched my friends compete in the sac race, limbo contest, and the water balloon toss. I didn't win my game but I did have fun and I earned points for my house just for trying.

The afternoon brought on "Bowling for Opus" at the Oshawa Bowling Alley. The house which accumulates the most points will win the school mascot, Opus the penguin.

Air Bands was the final event of the day. Each house submitted a band to be judged by a panel of teachers.

With all the points from the numerous activities, Carter was awarded Opus. This left the other houses wondering how to capture Opus for themselves.

Helen hops to victory for Farewell in the sac race. →

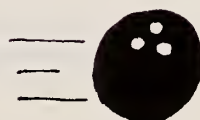

Suzanne and a Carter House rival compete for first place in the sac race. →

A large crowd gathered to cheer on Brochelle as she competed for house points in the limbo contest. →

Members of Hare House gather in one corner of the playing field to plan their strategy for the day ahead.

Turkey trot

The day for the annual two kilometre race around the school grounds finally arrived. For serious athletes this October afternoon was the chance they had been waiting for to display their cross country skill. The weeks of practicing in gym class and after school were about to pay off.

Less competitive girls found the route around the school to be a fun break from classes and a chance to get outside to enjoy the sunshine and fresh air before autumn disappeared and winter set in.

Andrea takes a moment to congratulate her sister Shannon on a terrific race. Why weren't you running Andrea?

The turkey prepares to run two kilometres in an attempt to avoid being trampled by this swarm of anxious students on their way to Thanksgiving dinner.

On your mark, get set, go! They are off in pursuit of the turkey. Maria, Heather, Leslie, and Rosemarie are especially eager to beat the turkey to the finish line and earn extra house points.

"Birds of a feather flock together." There is apparently some truth to this saying. School mascot Opus the penguin turned up with House Captain Carmina Chiappe to watch the turkey trot.

Marietta is working hard to keep up with the turkey. Could this result in a tie?

Bazaar

At Trafalgar Castle School
On Saturday the 4 of November,
The gates will open to the public
For an event you'll remember.

All the students will gather
Between the hours of one and four,
And assemble into position
For their assigned chore.

Perhaps they'll babysit your kids
While you watch the fashion display
Or serve you lunch in the tearoom
As they practise carrying a tray.

Try the pizza parlour
For a snack the girls have prepared,
And visit the International table
Where there is culture to be shared.

As they work the students smile
Because of all the money they'll raise,
For their foster children and charities
Which they help in so many ways.

So whether you buy a craft
Or you're tempted by a treat,
It is definitely worth a trip
To 401 Reynolds Street!

Kim Dunn

Members of the Student Fellowship gather on the main staircase to officially welcome guests to the international bazaar with a song.

Kerrilynn and Courtney practise service with a smile.

"Honest Nousheen, I am only going to take one bite," exclaims Courtney as Tracey looks on.

The smiles displayed by Student Fellowship president Kim Dunn and her assistant Flora Young reflect the success of the bazaar.

Pages Tara and Kelly take a break between announcements to enjoy a treat and pose for a picture.

Semi-Formal

The lights were flashing! The music was booming and everyone was having a great time dancing to the latest hits. As usual the Bahamians showed us the newest moves, sliding across the dance floor to Bobby Brown. The food was great and so were the guys, looking enticing in their jackets and ties. Lakefield College, St. Andrews College and Trinity College all joined us in celebrating our Semi-formal 1990.

Sue Lettner,
Social Convenor

Trafalgar's own Cinderella takes a moment to chat to her Prince Charming before fleeing the castle when the clock struck midnight.

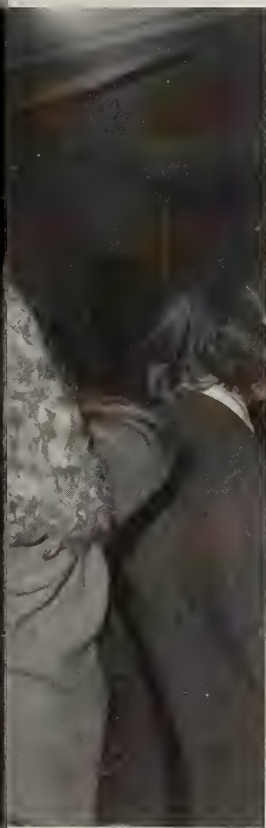

Ailsa, Mara, Lara, and Dierdre all look so lovely this evening that the young gentleman found it impossible to choose just one of them for a dance partner. Perhaps you could have drawn straws?!

— Rosemarie demonstrates the newest dance steps to Karen.

"How many times must I say that I don't want to dance with you!" Better luck next time Sonja.

Sandra Veronica, Maria, Rocio and Mayual display the most popular party fashions from Mexico.

House plays

DEBBIE

STEPHANIE

"Ladies and gentlemen welcome to Trafalgar's annual houseplay competition," exclaimed the hostess!

The evening of November 29, 1989 began at seven o'clock with Hare House performing "To the Lovely Margaret." Next in line was Carter with their version of the play "Spy Me This One." Following Carter was Maxwell House acting out "Trifles." Last came Farewell showing their talent in "Blind Dates."

After the entertainment had concluded, the audience sat on the edges of their chairs waiting for the results of the contest. The adjudicator acknowledged Maxwell for the best set design. Debbie Bryant of Farewell House was named best director. Christine Bandomir and Alana Assad tied for best supporting actress. Stephanie Nickson was honoured with the title of best actress. Carter House stole the show as the top performance.

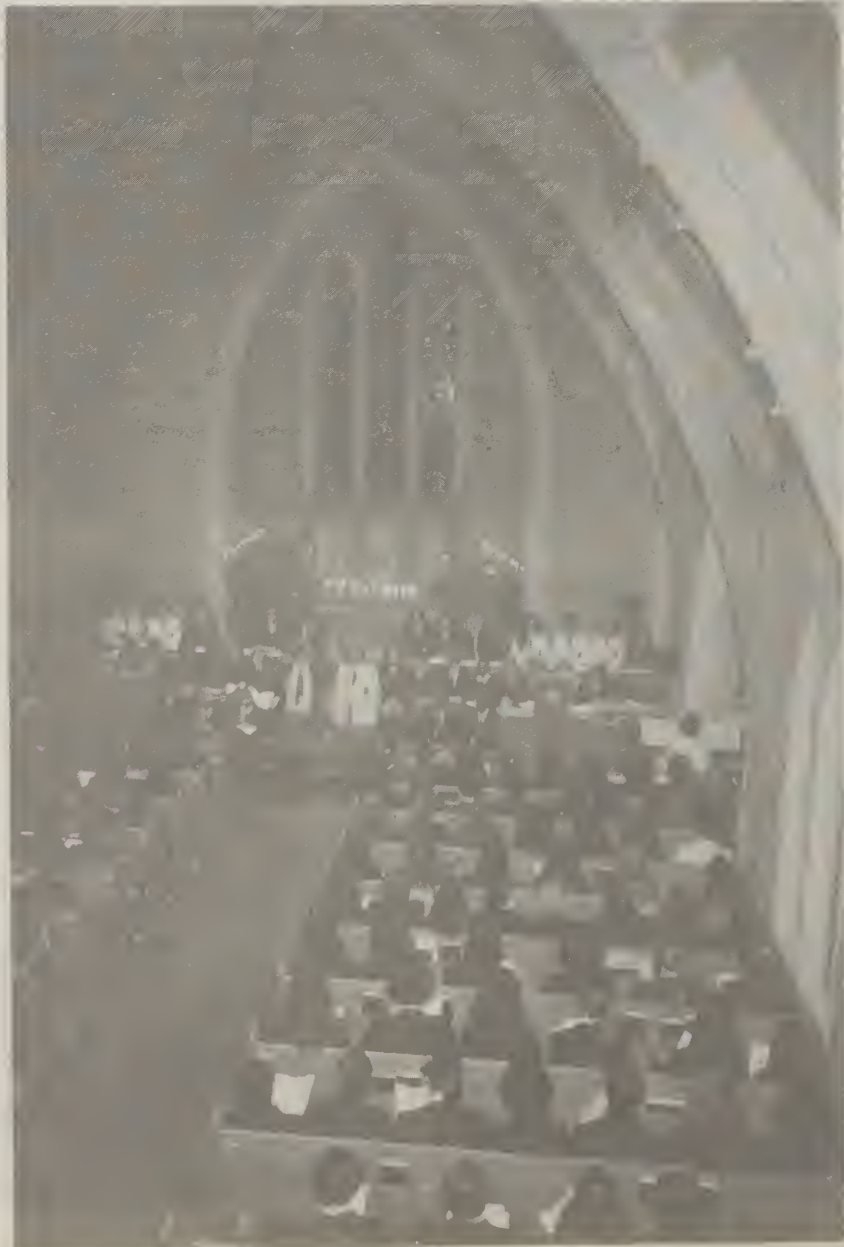

The school choir, headed by Mr. Southwell, entertains students and guests with a selection of Christmas melodies.

Dawn and Stephanie combine their talent to perform a duet.

The Carol Service

Sonya and Denise lead the choir out of Grace Chapel at the end of the service.

The students are given the opportunity to display their superior singing ability to the guests.

Early in November the girls at Trafalgar begin rehearsing for the annual Carol Service. Each morning in chapel we are introduced to one of the songs we will be performing and over the next few weeks we practise the carols until they are perfect.

Then, on a wintry Sunday afternoon in December, we gladly take time out from studying for exams to gather in the Grace Chapel. Here we spread the holiday spirit to our friends and families that have joined us, through Christmas music.

Lara displays her musical ability through a classical song on the piano.

The grade nine drama students act out the story of the first Christmas.

Christmas Dinner

Christmas is a time to celebrate. It is the season of good will and peace. At Trafalgar there is also a lot to be happy about. December 20 marks the end of long hours locked in one's room studying, the final exam is completed and the first term has drawn to a close. However, before departing for faraway lands the whole school gathers to share a traditional turkey dinner and enjoy the festivities of this holiday.

The prefects entertain their audience with a personalized version of the New Kids song "Funky Funky Christmas."

Under the direction of Martha Shumovich the junior choir, consisting of Marietta, Sonja, Suzanne, Tara, Kelly, Catherine, and Bethany, start the evening off with some holiday music.

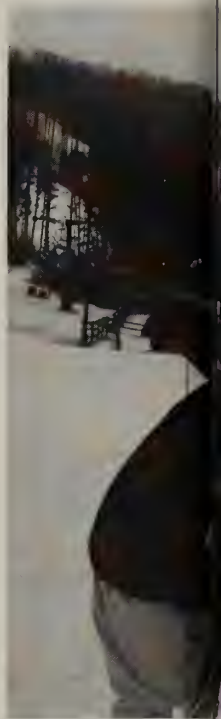

Gillian, Monica, and Ailsa are in costume and ready to do their part in "The Nutcracker Suite."

SKI DAY

Left: Emily and Amy pause for a picture at Devil's Elbow.
Below: Sophia, our Jamaican Olympic Skier!

Ingrid, Maria R. and Maria O.

Our end-of-January excursion to Devil's Elbow Ski Resort near Lindsay is one of the more exciting and adventurous outings of our school year. Everybody participates in the fun, novices taking that critical first lesson, intermediates packing all the lifts time after time, and advanced skiers tackling all the challenging slopes the area has to offer. We particularly like this resort because it also offers a scenic cross-country trail for devotees of this winter pleasure.

If you think for a moment that a day on the hills would tire out Trafalgar girls, you have never met our energetic bunch. The evening culminates with a traditional ski dance where energy reserves are called upon to chase boys! Winter is Fun at Trafalgar!

Grade 10 Wanna-Be-Ski-Team!
Dennice

Our athletic seniors, Corine, Alana, Kim and Stephanie.

And just when I told you we spent the whole day skiing! Anita, Jenny and Dorothy had to be dragged forcibly from the hills for a quick bite with Annie, honest.

Educational experience week

Since its inception in 1984-85, Trafalgar's Educational Experience Week has inspired ever-increasing enthusiasm and creativity. Teachers now begin about a year in advance to plan something new and different for their upcoming March experiences. The criteria we have established require the days preceding our March Break to provide unique, instructional pursuits which could not normally be offered during the scheduled school year. Because the costs should be covered by our activity fee we do make a concerted effort to provide a wide range of interesting and challenging selections either right here at home or within an easy commute. Such choices as folk art, CPR, drivers' ed., silk painting and self defense competed with the 'green experience' and 'mind over matter' for the enquiring student mind this year.

Traditionally, we do manage to offer a few excursions farther afield, and while juniors are sometimes allowed, these are generally more appealing to our senior girls. Some adventurous souls tried winter camping near Temagami, skiing in central Ontario, (beginner), Vermont, (advanced), or Quebec, (en francais naturellement), or leaving the continent altogether. Reports from Paris, Rome, Venice and Florence all attest to the pleasure and wonder students derive from foreign travel. Closer to home, skills in tennis were honed to a fine calibre with an Oshawa pro, students interested in medicine were able to spend several days with skilled practitioners in the Ajax-Pickering General Hospital, and the cultural diversity of Toronto was meticulously explored by others.

These fascinating and instructive diversions are now firmly entrenched at Trafalgar and eagerly awaited by each of us. When creative people are given such scope and encouragement, who can say what will be offered in years to come? ... mountaineering? ... auto mechanics? ... spelunking? ... (the best is yet to come.)

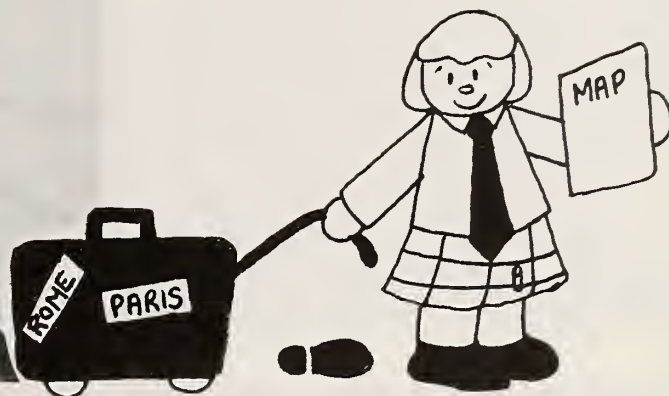

In Washington, Armita waits impatiently for her roomie to get ready for dinner.

I love Paris in the springtime!! Back: Sarah, Illo, guide, Shaney, Sue. Front: Mr. and Mrs. Sos, Betty, Angela, Jasmine, Sheila.

In centre, Rebecca, Rachel, Rea, Kerilyn, Audrey, Armita and Mandy pose with Mr. McClure just before they go on duty.

Swim meet

Trafalgar Takes The Plunge

This year's annual swim meet was quite a success, thanks to all those who helped out (especially Trafalgar's Trusty Crowd Control). As always this meet included the classic strokes: front crawl, back crawl, and breast stroke. Trafalgar's infamous novelty and medley relays were also included.

The competition between the houses was fierce and the excitement escalated as the meet reached it's end. The scores were close but Maxwell prevailed.

Irene prepares Jasmine for her role in 'Hello Dolly'.

Stephanie takes centre stage as Dolly.

Carrie and Maija sing a duet as the characters Irene and Rudolph.

Angela, as Ernestina, and Alana, as Horace, talk together.

HELLO DOLLY

FIVE STARS

"Trafalgar Castle is proud to present the musical fable 'Hello Dolly,'
"announces the master of ceremonies and director Mr. Craig Kamcke.

Proud they should be. The 70 girls, from the lead actress to the lighting assistant, worked wonderfully together to pull off a very professional show. The inspiration may have come from Broadway, but the authentic costumes, creative use of the stage and aisle space, along with the players personal touches made the evening a Trafalgar success.

"Very well done," "Entertaining," "A pleasure to watch," were the responses of some of the spectators. While autographs were not demanded at this time, viewers may be rushing for them later. 'Hello Dolly' may be the stepping stone to a successful acting career for our young stars. Congratulations on a five star performance!

Dierdre, Meghan, and Maija sing a song.

Some of the town characters join together to get the show started.

Sarah, Jodi, and Carmina are all smiles. I wonder what they are up to.

On May 11th, the entire school gathered for a farewell to the senior class of 1990. The evening was very emotional, filled with tears and hugs as the realization that the end is near dawns on the graduating students.

More than anything else, Senior Dinner is one last time when the entire school: faculty, staff and students are together. In addition to the usual rousing toasts, this year the announcement of the new prefects was made at the close of the evening.

However hard it is for us to leave, we must go; but we will always remember Trafalgar in our hearts.

Armita Rahmani

"Now smile for the camera!" Corine, Alana, Tudi, Stephanie, Armita and Shaney oblige.

"Yes, Grace and Suzanne, I like those outfits. Almost as well as the last five you tried on."

Senior dinner

Our Last Goodbye

I guess this is our last goodbye together,
We can't plan on staying here forever.
We've got to get a move on with the things we plan to do,
We'll try to do our best for us and you.

Thinking of the past, the present, and future,
Our thoughts, your thoughts, help us reach our goal.
You and I are the best of friends,
If we don't make it the first time
Then we'll try it again.

As we go down the road
Don't worry about us.
We'll have lots of pride in the things
We plan to do.
Maybe we'll get stuck with something we don't want to do.

Or maybe someday
our dreams will come true.

Knowing that all of us
hate long goodbyes,
We'll make it short as tears appear in our eyes.

We've got to get a move on with the things we plan to do,
We'll try to do our best for us and you.

Formal

Pink and white balloons, shiny ribbons, twisted streamers, polished black and white tuxedos, fabulous gowns and glitter — just add the professional touch of deejay "RPM", a little food and soft lighting and you have Trafalgar's spring formal 1990!

All through the afternoon of the preceding day, the social committee busily worked to transform our main hall into a magical ballroom. By the time our guests had arrived the girls' anticipation had reached fever pitch. Dancing continued until early morning. This is a night which will live in my memory forever!

Clare Jarvis

Sheila, Miss Barclay, Mr. Kamcke and Sue eagerly wait to greet the guests. ↪

Julienne, Sue Ann, Rocio, Sophia, Niala, Denise, Reantee, and Loupu take time out from dancing to enjoy some of the treats provided by Mrs. Smith and her staff.

This year's May Queen Loupu Momolu is surrounded by her court: Nicolina and Shaney as the counsellors and Cynthia, Tara, and Marietta as the attendants.

The grade nine class jazz up the day with a lively performance.

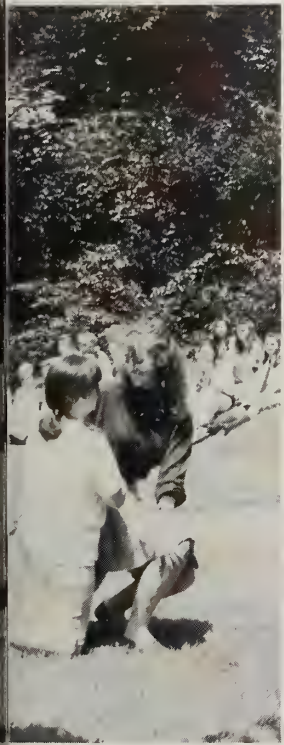

Before leading their houses in the grand march, Sonja, Carrie, Carmina, and Debbie take time to pose for a snapshot.

The seniors express their feelings about the world around them through dance.

May Day

Judith puts on her dancing shoes to perform.

My years at Trafalgar have been good to me in so many ways. I have met and lived with people from all walks of life who I will never forget.

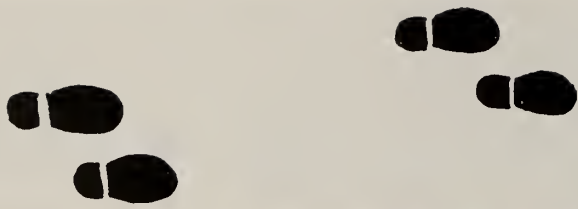

Becoming May Queen was an honour. It made me feel good inside to know that I have done a lot for people, and that I am appreciated by many of my fellow school-mates. I would like to thank everyone for their support and encouragement this year.

May Day was perfect. I loved all the dances, from the traditional Maypole to the modern jazz. I will remember it always.

Love, Loupu

The Maypole dance, done by the grade ten girls, has been part of the May Day ceremonies since the first show in 1906.

Birds of a feather — Lara Dierdre, Carmina and Cheri.

This year's Track and Field Day was organized by Hanan Samnah and Heather Slade. What a day it was! The sun was out and there wasn't a cloud in the sky — a perfect day for a track meet! Records were broken in sr. high jump, sr. long jump, and sr. shot put, and records were established in jr. and sr. javelin, because this is the first time we have had these events. Everyone participated and there was lots of house spirit. The highlight of the day was when, for the first time in at least six years, the Athletic Association finally beat the teachers in the teachers vs. A.A. relay. Maxwell came out on top, with Hare only 25 points behind, and following were Carter and Farewell.

Within the ancient walls of this old castle, behind the beautiful smiles of our students, the routine of our classrooms and the buzz of day-to-day activities, dwell all these very special people whose task it is to keep this ship afloat. You may notice a glossy polish on the bannisters, fresh linings in the waste baskets, flowers on the tables, new shelves in your rooms or even a special request appearing on the menu, and you can be sure one of these ladies or men was responsible. Imagine trying to satisfy the food preferences of two hundred teenagers, or keeping watch at night because someone heard a noise! Saints! We thank you all for the myriad of kindnesses we have received.

Principal

I am happy that the yearbook tradition is undergoing a revival and I look forward to reading and treasuring the memories that this year's edition will provide me for years to come.

If we were to compare recent editions of the yearbook to those of twenty-five or thirty years ago, one feature would immediately be evident. There would be many more words in the earlier publications. We have come more and more to depend on pictures to tell our stories. It is said that a picture is worth a thousand words. Perhaps. Still, words are important. (Generations of us have even studied from a book using that very title.) Words allow us to fill in the details that photos cannot provide. Words lead to more precision than photos. The use of language, spoken and written, is fading in this age of technology. I hope that the editors of this book will not let them slide away entirely.

A year from now, twenty years from now, some of you will pick up this yearbook. Through its words and photos information and memories of things past will be invoked. If you are like me, this experience will be positive and life enhancing. The tradition of the yearbook is long and honourable at Trafalgar Castle. May it live on forever.

Vice Principal

Students of Trafalgar.

As I jot down a few thoughts about the past year it is exam time and Trafalgarites, young and old, are studying madly trying to finish the year on a high note! It is difficult to believe that it is June already and another academic year is over. It seems like only yesterday that you were arriving at Trafalgar, renewing old friendships, making new ones, choosing courses and eager to get on with the school year. But oh how quickly the next nine months rolled by!

Even though the time has passed quickly, so much has happened to each one of you. Memories which will remain with you as a part of your life experience. Of course you have learned much about the world around you, the arts and the maths and sciences, but in addition there were the other experiences which are an important part of your education. The tolerance and understanding gained by living, studying and playing with others from different cultures and backgrounds. The wisdom learned from the experience of a schoolmate or staff member. The compassion and empathy which developed as you supported a friend in trouble or crisis. The lesson learned as your peers shared in morning chapel. The discipline developed by yourself or as the result of our school's rules.

All of you have been very fortunate to have been a part of Trafalgar Castle School this past year. Our smallness has allowed you, the school body, to grow together over the past nine months. And as a result your education has been more than a purely academic one. It has been an experiential one. To all of you, whether you are graduating, leaving or returning to us next year, I urge you to cherish your memories of this year. Use the wisdom, understanding, tolerance, etc. which you have gained in your future as you continue to grow into adulthood.

Wishing you all the best in the future.

J.B. McAlister

Dean

I salute you:

There is nothing I can give you which you have not got; but there is much, very much, that while I cannot give it, you can take.

No heaven can come to us unless our hearts find rest in today. Take Heaven.

No peace lies in the future which is not hidden in this present little instant. Take Peace.

The gloom of the world is but a shadow, behind it, yet within our reach is Joy.

There is radiance and glory in the darkness could we but see, and to see we have only to look. I beseech you to look.

And so at this time I greet you. Not quite as the world sends greetings, but with profound esteem and with prayer.

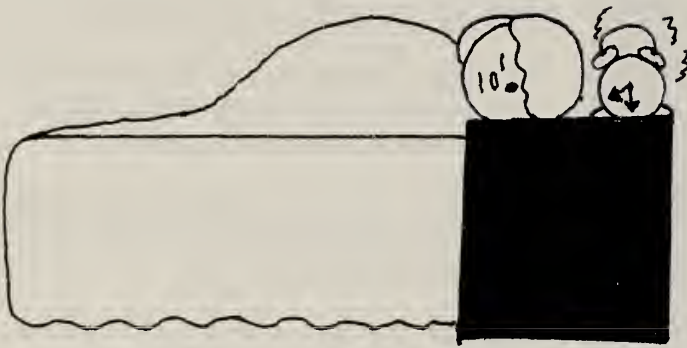

That for you now and forever, the day breaks and the shadows fall away.

Be good to yourselves and to others. God bless.

Charles W. Bents.

Trafalgar fads and fashions

Over the course of the school year the students at Trafalgar amuse themselves by progressing through a number of interesting fads and fashions. In the latter, dressing for the occasion has become popular: I'll never forget the debut of the turkey in the dining hall prior to the Thanksgiving weekend or Becci and Joelle showing their holiday spirit as Santa and his elf. Creating modern art out of one's bedroom is definitely a popular fashion statement.

Elizabeth and Carol lead the fad department by running up long distance calls on the telephone. Shirley and Rosalind reflect the hope of all girls for the future by holding up the peace sign. Caught in the act! Shaney tries to conceal the top secret evidence she has found by tapping into confidential school records with her computer.

Last but not least, the New Kids on the Block make their appearance at Trafalgar in the hallways, classrooms, and dorms of the school, inspired by our own Trafalgar New Kids Alana, Stephanie, Shaney, Corine and Tudi.

Personal message

Every rose has thorns, this one didn't sting. Love to T.L., A.L., D.L., Sorry J.M. Love Maija

It is time for me to say Thank you to a great deal of people: Nikki for making me laugh, Ingrid for introducing me to D. Wendy for just being you, Tudi for sharing, Alana for being a great brother, Armita for helping me through Physics, Shaney for her room on the weekend, Carrie for always being there and my parents for giving me this opportunity. Anyone who I forgot, sorry. To all Trafalgarites, you make the school and my memories. Thanks a thousand times! Good luck to all, and to all a good future!

Love Stephanie.

I have really enjoyed my year as editor of 'Vox Collegii'. I learned a lot about putting a book together, and through the process of taking photographs and writing reports I met almost every girl in the school. Thanks for the opportunity.

Love Charlyn
